THE NUTRITION SOCIETY OF AUSTRALIA

The Nutrition Society of Australia (NSA) represents qualified individuals from diverse disciplines who are brought together by a common interest in the research and application of nutrition science.

Founded in 1975, the society is represented across Australia and Members of NSA include human nutritionists, animal nutritionists, public health nutritionists, dietitians, medical practitioners, nurses, agricultural scientists, veterinarians, food scientists, teachers and postgraduate students.

REGISTER OF NUTRITIONISTS

NSA members can be registered as:

Associate Nutritionist (ANutr)

Registered Nutritionist (RNutr)

Registered Public Health Nutritionist (RPHNutr)

Registered Animal Nutritionist (RAnNutr)

Registration status signals personal and professional credibility, and tells employers, colleagues and business partners worldwide that:

- You are a qualified, experienced, skilled nutrition science professional
- You have gained a Bachelor degree or higher related to nutrition science
- You maintain currency in nutrition science through participation in continuing professional development.
- You are committed to NSA's code of ethics

WHY BECOME REGISTERED?

- Use post-nominal letters to professionally identify yourself as a graduate with a degree related to nutrition science
- Join a network of Associate and Registered Nutritionists nationally and internationally
- Contribute to protecting the public through joining a scheme that recognises appropriately qualified nutrition scientists

WHY EMPLOY A REGISTERED NUTRITIONIST?

Assurance that your employee has a bachelor degree, or higher, related to nutrition science

Assurance that your employee maintains currency of knowledge related to nutrition science

Assurance that your employee is committed to maintenance of ethical standards

HOW DOES NSA SUPPORT REGISTERED NUTRITIONISTS?

- We reach out to industry, government and employer stakeholders to emphasise the importance and value of Registration
- We create a community of registered members to build professional networks
- We provide ongoing professional development activities to keep you up-to-date in nutrition science
